REPEAL OF FREE TOLLS LAW ASKED

By President Wilson Who Delivers Address To Congress In Person

CONTRAVENES TREATY

Also Says Exemption of American Coastwise Vessels Constitutes a Mistaken Economic Policy
and Congress Should Reverse Action.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, March 5.—Plans were completed early today for congress to hear in joint session President Wilson's plea for a repeal of the Panama
tolls exemption.

Long before the hour set for the President's sixth personal address to the legislative branch of the government, the capitol corridors were crowded with men and women favored with tickets of admission to the galleries.

The house chamber and galleries
were packed as usual to hear the President read his address. The French and German ambassadors and other members of the diplomatic corps were in spaces reserved for them. No official of the British embassy was present. The Misses Wilson had places in the executive gallery, and Mrs. Wilson for the first time was absent, she has not yet recovered from the shock of a fall in the White House a day or two ago.

President Wilson reached the capitol ten minutes before the time for the reading and waited in Speaker Clark's room until 12:30 o'clock when he was escorted into the chamber and promptly began reading his brief address as soon as a burst of applause
had died away.

Mr. Wilson's message was so brief that he had finished reading almost before the surprised galleries realized he had begun. It took less than five minutes and as another burst of applause greeted its close Mr. Wilson hurried out of the chamber and drove back to the White House. The joint session dissolved at once and the two houses resumed their work.

Not a sound had interrupted the President as he read his message and as he finished the assemblage was all smiles.

Within ten minutes after the President had addressed congress, Senator Chilton, Democrat, of the canal committee, introduced a bill authorizing
the president to suspend tolls.

President Wilson advocated the repeal of the clause in the Panama canal act which exempts American

FEIGNED AFFLICTION IN BEGGING MONEY; POLICE ARREST THEM

Beggars who play on the sympathies of the public by assuming afflictions which they do not possess,
and Mayor Bigbee unalterably opposed to their operations. Two found this out to their sorrow
Thursday morning and for a few moments they had visions of hard labor in the workhouse until the mayor indicated that the workhouse sentence would be suspended if they transferred the base of operations to other cities.

James Cloud 25 and Frank O'Neil
23, claiming homes in Chicago and Cincinnati, respectively, were arrested Wednesday by Police Sheridan and Patman Abbott. Cloud was seated on the sidewalk on the square, with his face and hand distorted as though by paralysis. He held his hat in his good hand and solicited alms. O'Neil, his pal sought financial aid to pay his transportation to a tuberculosis sanitarium. Police believed both men to be impostors and they were arrested. Cloud was as perfect physically as the average man and while no medical examination discovered O'Neil's claim there was no
outward indication that he was a convulsive.

Both men drew fines of $25 and costs and were ordered committed to the Columbus workhouse. The execution of the sentence was suspended on condition that the men
leave the city immediately.

TO INVESTIGATE THE CONDITION OF PORTER CHARLTON

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Naples, Italy, March 5.—The mental condition of Porter Charlton, the young American charged with murdering his wife at Lake Como, is to be investigated by two of the leading Italian alienists, Dr. Leonardo Bianchi, former minister of instruction,
and Prof. Enrico Nosselli of the University of Genoa.

Show Girl and Indian Chief Get Marriage License.

Capanican, who says he is chief of the Apaucaes tribe of Indians in Chili, is going to wed Miss Cecil Burton, a show girl. They went to the marriage license bureau in the New York City Hall the other day and got a license. Of course a very large crowd watched them, and for a time it seemed that any police might have to be called to clear the way for them. Miss Burton says she met the chief in Winnipeg a year ago and fell in love with him. Her home is in Maryland, but she has been in New York for some time. The chief, who is thirty-five years of age, looks much like any American Indian and dresses and acts like one. But since Indians of any kind are seldom seen in New York he has created much interest.

State of Siege Declared Today In Rio Janeiro Says Buenos Ayres Dispatches

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Buenos Ayres, Argentine, March 5.—A state of siege was proclaimed
in Rio Janeiro, Brazil, today according to despatches reaching here
from that city.

It is understood here that a strict censorship has been imposed on despatches from Brazil.

Reports have been current for some time that a revolutionary movement was in existence in the Brazilian states of Pernambuco
Ceara, and Para, and that fighting was in progress between the local forces and the government authorities.

The causes of the disaffection
were said to have been racial differences. In the last week of February a body of fanatics was reported to be marching on Rio Janeiro.

PARDON BOARD SAYS FOSTER IS INNOCENT

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, March 5.—Lock Foster, sent to the penitentiary from Wyandot county in April 1901, for the murder of William Johnson,
known as the "celery king," was recommended for an unconditional
pardon today by the pardon board
on the grounds of "innocence."

Foster with four others was convicted of first degree murder and sent to the penitentiary for life.
Three of the men, Charles Foster,
an uncle of Lock's, Willis Miller and Marsh Lindsay, died in the penitentiary, a fourth, George Fry, was pardoned by Governor Cox about a year ago. The pardon board stated that there was no doubt of his innocence.

Lock Foster has served 13 years
in the penitentiary for a crime which the pardon board believes was committed by others. He was without friends and without money. Two years ago a young attorney of To-paw Sandusky, O., Will C. Hare, son of the late Congressman D. D. Hare, became interested in the Foster
case when he accidentally heard a state inspector of Findlay, O., make the statement that he saw Foster
on the night of the Johnson murder miles away from the scene of the crime. Mr. Hare immediately started to work in Foster's behalf. He knew there would be no remuneration for his efforts or no funds to pay the expenses necessary to bring
the matter before the pardon board.
He believed Foster innocent and he worked hard securing evidence to that and devoting months of hard work and spending his own money

The revolution in the various states was reported as becoming worse, especially in Ceara. Business was said to be virtually suspended
in several states, chiefly those where the negro population was very numerous.

The state of Ceara at the last census had a population of about 350,000, Para 459,300 and Parnam-buca 1,200,000.

REPORT CONFIRMED.
(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, March 5.—Confirmation of the report that a state of siege
had been proclaimed in Rio Janeiro was received here from that city today.

Martial law has been proclaimed
in Niteroy, five miles east of the capital and in Petropolis, capital of the state of Rio Janeiro.

In running down clues. That he has been successful will certainly be a source of great gratification to him and a cause for the extending of congratulations by those who were aware of his efforts in behalf of Foster.

GIRL IS MISSING.
(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cairo, Ill., March 5.—Miss Jessie
Branton, who came here from Gary,
Ind., is missing, and Mose Endicott,
with whom she was last seen alive, is in jail pending investigation. When last seen the girl was starting with Endicott to a moving picture show.

NEWARK MAN LOSES TWO RELATIVES BY DEATH OUT WEST

G. E. Schoeller of German street within the week, has lost two nephews by death from tuberculosis,
both deaths occurring in the far west
where the men went for relief from the ravages of the disease. The second death was that of William Schoeller of Zanesville, who died Sunday midnight in Colorado. The body is now enroute to Zanesville,
accompanied by the young man's wife,
who was with him when death occurred. Mr. Schoeller was born in Newark but has lived in Zanesville
for a number of years.

The other death under similar circumstances was that of Phil Dase, Mrs. Schoeller's brother's son, whose funeral was held at Springfield Wednesday afternoon. He died a week ago
Monday in Arizona.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Buffalo, N. Y., March 5.—Edward
H. McBride, 42 years old, widely known as a sporting writer under the name of "Hotspur" died here today following an operation for a throat infection.

AWAITING CARRANZA INQUIRY

Policy Which the United States Will Pursue Depends Upon the Investigation

MUST MAKE REPARATION

If Benton and Bauch Were Wantonly Murdered in Mexico as Reported—No
Developments Expected
For a Fortnight.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, March 5.—The apparent lull on the part of the United States in pursuing its inquiry into the death of William S. Benton, a British subject, and into the mysterious disappearance of Gustav Bauch,
an American citizen, is only temporary, according to those well informed on the intention of the Washington administration. The United States, it was explained today, simply is awaiting the outcome of the investigation instituted by General
Carranza himself but not only into the Benton execution but in the Bauch case.

Outwardly it was apparent that General Carranza's determination to supply information about the Benton case, though technically denying the United States the right to ask it, was favorably received here and his prompt ordering of the inquiry into the Bauch case likewise was welcomed.

Upon the results of the investigation and General Carranza's subsequent action depend in a large measure the policy which the American government will pursue toward the constitutionalists. Much evidence of a conclusive character about Ben-ton's death has been gathered. Should the Carranza commission controvert
important points satisfactorily proven here, it is unlikely that the Washington government will remain silent on the question.

There is every likelihood, too, that if Bauch was wantonly murdered as reported, a satisfactory explanation
of the incident and the punishment
of the offenders will be demanded.
The disposition of administration officials is to give Carranza an opportunity to carry out his announced
purpose of investigation without being hindered by any other investigating commission of Americans. The latter commission, however, has not been dissolved and may not be until after the findings of the Mexican board of inquiry are disclosed.

Persons familiar with the inaccessibility of the territory through which General Carranza will be isolated for the next ten days or more during his overland journey to Chihuahua City do not expect that there will be any report on the subject for another fortnight.

Though the Huerta government
has promised a full and complete explanation of the reported killing of Clemente Vergara, an American citizen near Hidalgo, Mex., nothing of a satisfactory nature has yet been received by the state department. Governor Coahuila's efforts to obtain extradition of those responsible for Vergara's disappearance are being watched here with much interest by Washington officials.

APPOINTMENT
OF MEXICAN
COMMISSION

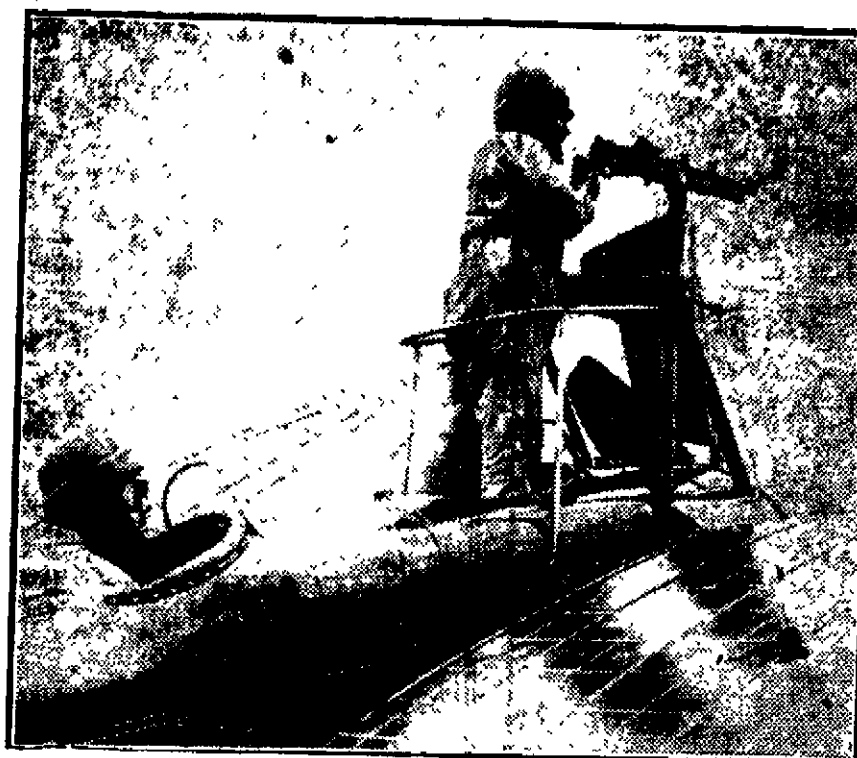

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Nogales, Sonora, Mex., March 5.—
Appointment of a Mexican commission to investigate the Benton case resulted, it was made known today,
from some difference of opinion
among General Carranza's advisors.
While it was asserted those surrounding the constitutionalist's commander-in-chief, realized his position
as a result of the Benton death, they had argued that his act in refusing information to the Washington government had created a false impression in the United States and England in regard to his implied meaning in the matter.

From those in close touch with General Carranza and his policies, it

French Machine Gun Mounted on a Biplane in Air.

The French have carried the use of the aeroplanes to such a degree that they have actually mounted a machine gun on one of them. This gun was placed on a Deperion biplane in tests just made at Villacoublay. The aviator is Maurice Prevost, who is known internationally as a daring airman.

More and More Start Daily

The popularity of the Advocate Booklovers' Contest grows larger everyday. More and more people are daily taking up this delightful picture problem study and those who started the past
day or two are already up with the procession, ready for today's picture. As only one picture is printed each day it is easy with the aid of the Advocate catalogue to find answers to the pictures that have been previously published.

New contestants are coming to the Advocate in large numbers for the first coupons, others are sending their orders by mail.

One business man who was in this office the other day said he had attended a party the previous night and there learned that every guest present, except two, was working for one of the Advocate's 136 prizes. This is not surprising as these 136 prizes have a value of almost four thousand dollars. Besides the gold, $600, there is a 1914 model Ford car, a Smith & Nixon piano, a beautiful $175 mahogany bed-room suite that may be seen at the Stewart
Brothers & Alward Company's store, a $110 diamond ring in Fuchs Coulter-McKay's, a $30 gun at Crane-Bliss, a case of silverware at Gleichauf's, a beautiful Camera at Edmiston's, two splendid sets of books at Norton's, a vacuum cleaner at the Ohio Light & Power office, a kitchen cabinet at the Besanzeny's, but all of the 136 free prizes are mentioned on another page. Read the whole list.

Nearly every person you meet is discussing the pictures. Nearly everybody is interested. If you happen to be one who has not as yet become enthused, turn now to Page 2, read the rules and see how easy it is to start. The prizes all free, admission is free and the only thing you have to do is to get the book coupons at this office and begin. A catalogue will help. The contest judges are Honorable Kibler, Prof. Wilson Hawkins, Prof. C. L. Williams of Denison University, Wm. M. Morgan and Judge T. B. Fulton. Begin tonight.

Boys Escape From Juvenile Detention Home and Attempt To Wreck Car Near Lancaster

Lancaster, O., March 5.—That they had attempted to wreck a traction car
from which they had been ejected
for non-payment of fares was confessed to by three youths who are under arrest here today according to statements of the local authorities.

The boys, who had escaped from the juvenile detention home at Columbus are, Charles Simmers, 12,
his brother, Warren Simmers, 12,
and Edward Simmers of Columbus, and Charles Bunn, 14 of Columbus.

After escaping from the home in Columbus, the boys say they went to Lancaster on a freight train to visit the Boys' Industrial school. When on a traction car going out to the home, the boys being without tickets,
were put off by the conductor.

They then rolled two logs on the track, they said, to wreck the car.
They then walked to the Industrial school, but on the way threw stones
into the sub-station, causing damage
estimated at $125.

Harris, aged 76 one of the founders of what is now the Harris Brick ated with him in the business. For some time prior to his death Mr.

Harris was not connected with the brick concern, but was identified with the Builders Supply Company.

FATHER DEAD; COPS CANNOT LOCATE IDA DUDLEY HERE

Mayor Bigbee received a letter
today asking the aid of the local police department in locating Miss Ida Dudley of Columbus, whose father died yesterday. The police department exhausted every method in an effort to locate the woman, who is said to be making her home with John Mackin. The city directors contains neither name and the local post office does not serve
any patrons by that name, according to information gained by the police.

NUMBER OF STATE EMPLOYES

Commission Investigation At Columbus

TURNER STENOGRAPHER

Also Present to Make Transcript of the Evidence—
State Fire Marshal Defen-
baugh Did Not Permit Campaign Contributions.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, March 5.—Prosecutor
Edward C. Turner of Franklin county laid a "pipe line" into the state civil service commission's investigation of alleged violation of the civil service law today when his official stenographer, H. B.
Diltz, sat in the hearings and made
a complete transcript of all evidence.

Mr. Turner said he might be able to use some of the evidence before
the grand jury investigation which was resumed today with the examination of a number of state employees.

William L. Finley, Democratic
state chairman, was aware of possible danger of law violation in soliciting contributions from civil service employees, E. R. Defenbaugh, state Fire Marshal, testified before
the civil service commission.

Other witnesses were State Treasurer John F. Brennan, E. E. Bostow of Marietta, cranial lands agent in the department of public works,
Miss Georgia Godard, secretary to Superintendent E. W. Lattner of the banking department and Floyd
Crooks, employee of the state tax
commission.

At least one state official, Fire Marshal Defenbaugh, did not permit any employees in his department
to contribute to the fund for maintenance of the Democratic state press bureau, because he believed that would be violation of the civil service law, according to his testimony.

Mr. Defenbaugh said an attorney in his department, D. B. Sharp, had advised him soliciting funds from civil service employees would be a violation of the law.

The Democratic state chairman
also held the opinion that this would be law violation, Mr. Defenbaugh testified. He said Mr. Finley had said to him when the two had discussed needs of the press bureau:
"I think for the employees in civil service to solicit money among themselves would be a little dangerous.
I don't want any employees to lose their jobs."

Mr. Defenbaugh gave a personal check for $250 to M. A. Goler, clerk in the state banking depart-

NEWARK SCHOOLS RECOVERING FROM MUMPS EPIDEMIC

Newark schools are just beginning to show signs of recovery from an epidemic of mumps, which has caused absence of several instructors as well
as between 300 and 400 pupils.

Three high school instructors have been victims of the epidemic, and H.
J. Dickinson, teacher of history and geography, is still unable to attend
his duties. L. G. Millisor and G. G.
Winter, both of the commercial department, were absent on account of mumps last week but have returned to the school.

Miss Kate Sparks is recovering
from an operation for appendicitis
and is expecting to be able to return to her duties as instructor in English and history within a week. Miss Ann Wotring, German teacher, is reported steadily improving.

Loren Fulk, High school student,
living at 99 Granville street, was reported much improved Thursday after a long and serious siege of typhoid fever. His fever has subsided and he rested well Wednesday night. The family is now hopeful of his early recovery.

Advocate Booklovers' Contest Prize Picture

WHAT BOOK IS MEANT BY THIS PICTURE?

COUPON NO. 21.

Newark Advocate Booklovers' Contest.

Title _____
Author _____
My Name _____
My Address _____
(21) MARCH 5, 1914. (21)

Clip out your coupons neatly, and fill them out clearly and plainly, remembering that in the event of a tie for any prize between two or more contestants, neatness and clear writing will win the judges' favor. The picture is to be a part of the coupon. Do not detach the coupon from the picture.

Send no answers whatever to the Advocate until the contest is ended by the publication of Picture No. 70. Any answers received before that time will be destroyed and will not be counted. Read the rules carefully.

Rules of the Booklovers' Contest.

Any person may compete in this contest who lives either in Licking, Delaware, Knox, Coshocton, Muskingum, Perry, Fairfield or Franklin counties, Ohio, except employees of the Advocate or members of their families.

Answers to the picture must be written upon the coupon blank which will be printed every day with each picture during the seventy publication days the contest will last. Both picture and blank must be clipped from the paper, and the blank properly filled in with the name of book and the author's name together with the name and address of the contestant written clearly and plainly in the space provided. Not more than one person's name may be written on any coupon.

Each picture will represent the title of only one book, but there may be some pictures that suggest the title of several books. For the benefit of contestants, and to allow for this variety of solution, any contestant may give as many as five answers to any picture, at will; but not more than one solution may be written on any coupon. If the contestant gives two answers as likely to include the correct one, two coupons must be used; if three answers, three coupons, and so on.

In each instance, whether the contestant gives one answer or five answers to any picture, both the picture and coupon must be used for each of the answers; and not more than five answers to any picture will be permitted.

If any one of the five answers that may be given to any picture is correct, the contestant will be credited for the correct solution and will not have the incorrect ones counted against his or her chances.

Prizes will be awarded to every contestant, by the Contest Judges, who sends in the largest number of correct answers upon the smallest number of coupons. Thus, if a contestant gives the correct answers to 70 of the pictures and uses only 70 coupons, that contestant will rate higher in the prize awards than one who uses 140 coupons or any higher number up to 350 for supplying the 70 correct answers.

If two or more persons, supplying the same number of correct answers, have used the same number of coupons for their answers, the highest rating will be given to the one whose answers are most neatly prepared, in the opinion of the judges.

No contestant will be allowed to submit more than one set of answers, which must include not less than 70 or more than 250 coupons, with accompanying pictures.

Positively no solution may be sent in to the Contest Editor until every one of the seventy pictures has been printed. Answers in complete sets, as just specified above, will then be received in this office, and should be addressed to "Contest Editor," Booklovers' Contest, Advocate, Newark Ohio. The awards will be made strictly according to the correctness of each set of answers, and the correctness shall be determined by the Finding List, the catalogue issued by us as governing the Booklovers' Contest. This catalogue can be obtained from the Advocate office for 25c (27 cents if by mail), and will include in its 5000 titles every one used in the contest. Awards will be announced in this newspaper after the close of the contest.

It is not absolutely necessary to send in solutions on blanks clipped from the Advocate, as duplicate pictures may be drawn by the contestant, if he or she so desires, or duplicate blanks may be obtained at the office of the Newark (Ohio) Advocate.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste eat four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

Granville, March 4.—The Denison Glee club will sing at Xenia tonight. The club left Granville Wednesday noon for a three days' trip, appearing at Jamestown on Wednesday evening, Xenia tonight, Wyoming, O., tomorrow and Cincinnati Saturday night. Three members of the club who are playing on the basketball team could not accompany the club because Denison will meet Miami at Miami Friday and Cincinnati at Cincinnati Saturday. The club will return Sunday noon.

The Winter Picnic club met with Miss Mayme Geach Wednesday evening. Mrs. Dorsey has been elected to join the club.

DENISON'S DOPESTERS USE PENCIL TO PROVE CHAMPIONSHIP CLAIM

CONFERENCE STANDING.

| | Won. | Lost. | Pct. |
|---------------|------|-------|------|
| Denison | 7 | 1 | .875 |
| Oberlin | 5 | 1 | .833 |
| Ohio Wesleyan | 2 | 2 | .500 |
| Ohio State | 2 | 2 | .500 |

Granville, March 5.—Above is the correct standing of the principal championship contenders in the Ohio conference. Denison, by virtue of their victory at Oberlin last Saturday night is practically assured of the state title for the second consecutive year. Three conference games remain on the schedule of the "Big Red" team, Miami, Cincinnati and Wooster will be played in the next two weeks. These contests are not expected to be of any great importance as Denison defeated Wooster 83 to 8 and Miami 83 to 18 earlier in the season, and as Cincinnati was recently beaten by Wesleyan with a wide margin and furthermore as Cincinnati has displayed no real ability all season, prospects are very bright for the Granville quintet.

There are not any teams in the conference which can fairly make even the slightest claim to the title. True the season is not over, but the only important games to be played are between teams ranking below Denison.

Thus Oberlin by winning from Ohio State Saturday would wind up the conference season with 6 games won and one lost. Even this would not compare with Denison's present record. Also State by victories over Oberlin and Wesleyan could only secure a record of 4 won and 2 lost. While Wesleyan on the other hand by gaining the decision over State would have a percentage slightly higher than at present.

Considering the subject from the other standpoint a review of Denison's record shows that the team has met all the strong teams in Ohio and has been defeated only once. State defeated the "Big Red" quintet at Columbus 25 to 22. Against this loss the team has victories over Oberlin and Wesleyan. Denison won from Oberlin on the floor of the Crimson and Gold 42 to 23. Wesleyan lost two games to Denison: one at home and one abroad. The scores were 26 to 23 at Delaware and 41 to 27 at Granville.

The most significant thing about these comparative scores is the fact that Wesleyan beat Ohio State at Delaware one week after the Denison contest on the same court. State lost to Wesleyan 21 to 24. Then the triumph of Oberlin at Columbus early in the season, at which time a close game was played resulting in the defeat of State by a 23 to 21 count clinches Denison's claim.

In a brief summary it is found that Oberlin won from State. Wesleyan won from State. Denison beat both Oberlin and Wesleyan but lost to State.

LOVELY FLOWERS, THREE PRIZES IN BIG CONTEST

Three prizes in the Advocate's big Booklovers' Contest are $10.00 worth of flowers purchased from Halbrooks the Florist at 236 North Cedar street.

Each of these three prizes will be an order for $5.00 worth of flowers from Halbrooks—and the fortunate ones to receive these can have their choice of any cut flowers or plants in the greenhouse.

If you want to realize what these prizes mean take a trip out to these big greenhouses and see the beautiful blooming flowers. Visitors are always welcomed. Think of the pleasure of having $5.00 worth without expenditure on your part—but simply as a result of being one of the winners of the enjoyable Booklovers' game now being put on by the Advocate.

Mr. Halbrooks purchased these big greenhouses of Mr. A. J. Baldwin just two years and a half ago. Many additions have been made and every modern equipment added and its name "The Pasadena of Newark" very graphically describes the place. It consists of nine houses covering 1500 square feet of ground. Everything that is sold by Mr. Halbrooks is grown in his greenhouses and it is said to be the only house in Central Ohio that has accomplished this. Mr. Halbrooks has had 29 years of active experience in this business, most of it being spent in Columbus and Chicago.

Just now the Sweet Peas, Calla Lilies and Carnations are at their best and their myriads of blooms make a beautiful sight. Roses and all seasonal plants are always here. On Wednesdays and Saturdays Mr. Halbrooks has a beautiful display of all the finest things at the Public Market.

The "Dollar Box Day" has made a great hit with Newark people and Mr. Halbrooks has on these occasions always create an immense demand for these wonderful boxes of flowers.

Get busy on this Big Booklovers' Game. If you are rewarded with one of these $5.00 orders for flowers you'll be mighty pleased to get them.

Gothic Castle, Canada's Largest Station, Completed.

The largest railway building in Canada and one of the best equipped in the world, the new Windsor Station of the Canadian Pacific, at Montreal, has just been completed by the unveiling of the statue of Lord Mount Stephen, the road's first president, on a pedestal in the traffic concourse.

The building contains nearly 6,000,000 cubic feet of space, with a frontage on Windsor Street of 490 feet; it is of gray limestone, but with nothing medieval in the interior.

Nowhere is to be seen a more cosmopolitan swarm of people than in the waiting rooms, be-sandaled monks, immigrants from all European countries, sleepy-eyed Chinese and Japanese in bond, and smartly tailored women travelers.

For the first time the marble has been brought from Italy, France, Indiana and Tennessee. The train shed is 1,000 feet long.

LESS DYSPEPSIA NOW —HERE'S THE REASON

The fact that there is less dyspepsia and indigestion in this community than there used to be is largely, we believe, due to the extensive use of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, hundreds of packages of which we have sold. No wonder we have faith in them. No wonder we are willing to offer them to you for trial entirely at our risk.

Among other things, they contain Pepsin and Bismuth, two of the greatest digestive aids known to medical science. They soothe the inflamed stomach, allay pain, check heartburn and distress, help to digest the food, and tend to quickly restore the stomach to its natural, comfortable, healthy state.

There is no red tape about our guarantee. It means just what it says. We'll ask you no questions. Your word is enough for us. If Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets don't restore your stomach to health and make your digestion easy and comfortable, we want you to come back for your money. They are sold only at the 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by Dr. Hall, 10 North Side Square, Newark, O.

OLD CIVIL WAR VET PREPARING FOR HIS BURIAL

Philadelphia, March 5.—Gen. John P. Taylor, a civil war veteran and member of the Gettysburg battlefield commission, although apparently in good health, is making advanced preparations for his funeral. He has placed an order for a solid bronze coffin to be cast from old cannon and a vault has been sunk in the private Taylor burying grounds on his estate near Reedsville, Pa. The General plans to have this covered by a big granite block to be surmounted by a bronze statue of himself. The firm which secured the contract for the coffin has been instructed to ship it to a Lewistown undertaker to be held until needed for the execution of the contract he holds for the burial of the veteran.

General Taylor, despite his 86 years, is still robust and enjoys a horseback ride almost daily. He is a member of the National Monument Commission and a former commander of the Legion of Honor.

NEW PLANT FOR HANDLING COAL FROM THE MINE

The Dixie Coal company, a local business institution less than three months old, has arranged for the construction of a large coal handling plant at Prior and McDonald avenues, just north of the Ruggs hatter factory, according to announcement made by George D. Upson, manager of the company, Thursday. The plant will be one of the largest and most up-to-date in central Ohio and will be of sufficient capacity to handle all kinds of coal.

Four lots lying along the B. and O. right of way at Prior and McDonald avenues have been purchased by the company and a spur track will be run into the tract. This track will be constructed on concrete abutments which will divide the space under the elevated tracks into compartments for the storage of coal.

These compartments will be provided with chutes for discharging the coal from the bins into the wagons which can be driven beneath the storage compartments. Scales and other equipment will be added to make the handling of coal speedy and economical.

Later the company expects to install yard screens and washing devices, though this is not included in the present plans.

Mr. Upson announced that the new plant would enable the company to keep on hand at all times a large quantity of all grades of soft coal and hard coal. He states that he will be able to take care of a large wholesale and retail business. The company will continue to specialize in "Dixie" coal but will handle other grades. The present office of the company at Third and Railroad streets will be continued to handle the business in the south and west ends of town.

The Dixie Coal company's connection with the Upson Mining company of Shawnee, operating the Dixie mine, assures a plentiful supply of this grade of coal which is growing in popularity with local coal users, and with the added storage facilities a large quantity will be available at all times.

Ten tons of Dixie coal, valued at $35, is offered as one of the prizes in the Advocate's Booklovers' contest.

A Year of Wilson

(New York World)

Woodrow Wilson has been President of the United States one year.

It has been a year of achievement for which there are few, if any, parallels in American history. To former President Taft, writing in the Saturday Evening Post, "It is a real satisfaction to one who knows the atmosphere of Washington to note the success of a strong character in dealing with the situation and improving the opportunity it offers." And Mr. Taft, with a generosity which a defeated President has rarely exhibited toward his successor, adds this further tribute of praise:

I rejoice in the existence of a situation in which the party in power is fulfilling its promise, made in the platform, and is doing so by following the guidance of the head of the party, who is charged by the people with the party's responsibility.

There will be differences of opinion as to the greatest achievement thus far of the Wilson Administration. Some will find it in the downward revision of the tariff to meet the pledges of the Democratic party and in the destruction of the lobby that for a generation dictated the essential schedules in every tariff act. Some will find it in the income tax, which is the first successful attempt since the civil war to shift part of the burden of government from poverty to wealth. Some will find it in the banking and currency law, which is the most important financial measure enacted since the original national banking act was passed as a war measure. Some will find it in the final submission of Big Business to public opinion as represented by the Administration, and some will find it in the separation of the National Government from Wall street, which is the most conspicuous result thus far of the President's policies.

These achievements are all of the highest importance but they are all subordinate parts of a still greater accomplishment—the restoration of responsible, representative government. This is the supreme thing that has taken place under Mr. Wilson's leadership. Everything else is an effect following from this cause.

Without responsible, representative party government republican institutions cannot long endure, and the decline of such government was the gravest menace that had threatened the country since secession. The policies and pledges of a party may be wise or unwise. They may be sound or weak; but unless that party when it is intrusted with the power and responsibility of government is prepared to redeem those promises in good faith and carry out its professed principles only political anarchy can follow. We do not mean that a political platform is sacred in all its planks, or that it is to be followed to the letter regardless of common sense, or common honesty, or the common welfare. But we do mean that when a party in power pledges itself to a general line of policy it must adhere to that general line of policy, or representative government becomes a fraud and a lie. There can be no "government of the people, by the people and for the people" on any other terms. And when the people have finally lost all confidence in the integrity of representative government we have reached the beginning of the end.

It has been the high privilege of Mr. Wilson to re-establish responsible, representative government on the fundamental principles of his party. That is the great fruit of his leadership. He has done it not by the bribery of patronage; and by denunciation and intrigue and chicanery; nor by selling out one promise in order to buy the fulfillment of another promise, but by sheer intellectual and moral domination, the only kind of leadership that does not lead to disaster. The influence that he exercises over Congress and his party is not the influence of a Chief Executive clothed with far-reaching legal power, but it is the influence of a trained and disciplined mind backed by sincerity and honesty of purpose. That is the noblest form of leadership that a Democracy can produce.

In his inaugural address Mr. Wilson said: "This is not a day of triumph; it is a day of dedication." Even the strongest opponent of his policies cannot impeach that pledge. The President has kept the faith. Under his leadership his party has kept the faith. That is the supreme vindication of American institutions. Everything else depends upon the fitness of the people themselves for self-government and for the responsibilities of self-government.

MEETING OF THE LICKING COUNTY DEMOCRATIC CLUB

The Licking County Democratic Club will hold an important meeting at its rooms, 34 1/2 South Third street Friday evening, March 6. All members are urgently requested to be present, as several matters of special importance will come up for action.

On Second Thought

Every country has its peculiar beliefs and customs. In Germany a man is considered as good as a woman.

If a man is industrious and thrifty he can save enough money by the time his daughter is old enough to marry to pay for the wedding.

Every man is a gambler to the extent that he occasionally stakes his reputation on the theory that it never will be found out.

It is the talk about buckwheat cake, not the cake itself, that makes one's mouth water.

The theory that this is a government by the people is also a fallacious one. This is a government by the newspapers.

Commenting upon the denial of the story that a noted Progressive had returned to the Republican party Eph Wiley says it will make no difference in his plans. "I hadn't intended to hold a celebration had the story been true," said Mr. Wiley yesterday.

When a man fails in business people say "I'll bet he feathered his nest."

The judgment of the men seems to be that blonds are more attractive and brunettes more durable.

Head a woman in the wrong direction and she will travel much faster than a man ticketed to the same destination.

Cleaning Sidewalks.

During the recent heavy snow people were obliged to walk through the snow with no paths except those made by travelers. After it moderated the sidewalks became very wet and as a result people were forced to sit in schools and places of business with damp shoes. And yet people wonder why there is so much sickness. Many of these sidewalks aren't cleaned yet.

Isn't it important to remove the snow and slush from the sidewalks? Isn't it worth while to keep our streets in better condition? Shouldn't they be cleaned more often? E. H.

Scat of Art.

There is a picture at Hampton court which bears witness to a theft that may be termed patriotic. This is Holbein's "Field of the Cloth of Gold," which after the downfall of Charles I. Cromwell proposed to sell. But when the would be purchaser came to inspect it he discovered that the head of Henry VIII. had been cut from the canvas. He refused to buy the picture, and it was preserved to the nation. At the restoration a nobleman confessed to having committed the crime for "love of art and country." He returned the missing head, which now occupies its original position, the circle made by the knife in the canvas being still plainly visible.—London Chronicle

CIVIC BEAUTY CRUX OF FLATIRON CHALLENGE

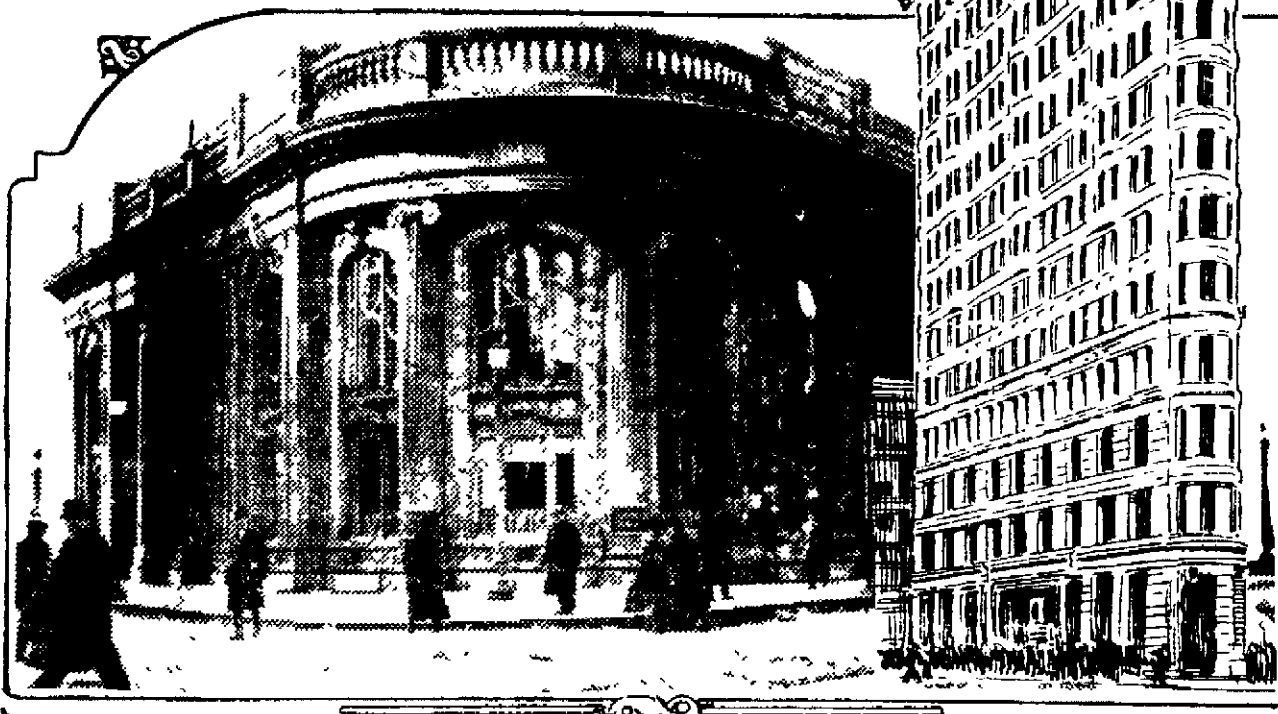

The challenge to the Flatiron building in New York, a skyscraper, from the one in Milwaukee one story high, will test the claim made for metropolitan structures throughout the country that utility requires a sacrifice of beauty. No one has said that the structure on Broadway is isolated little triangle of high-priced land was beautiful, but the "def" from the western city claims there is not only beauty, but utility in the very beauty of the building erected there on a similarly isolated and conspicuous site.

There are crowded thoroughfares on the three sides of the Flatiron building on Broadway, also in Milwaukee around the Second Ward Savings bank building. But Gotham's structure towers twenty stories; Milwaukee's stands only one story, massive and ornate. Here is comfort for the municipal art leagues that in recent years have labored to improve the artistic standard of city structures, beautify the streets and public buildings and put a ban on buildings which are merely big.

Few cities have fragments of blocks such as these. Milwaukee has two and claims that both are occupied more usefully than is New York's. On one is the city's big bank; on the other the city hall. Two thousand people tenant the Flatiron skyscraper; 25,000 savings depositors swarm to the "Gibraltar of Milwaukee," where one-fifth of the savings in all the state banks of Wisconsin are kept.

Which structure will prove its claim to the greater utility? Can utility gain by partnership with symmetry and art? This challenge will help to settle the controversy.

The Bank Flatiron Building and the Flatiron Skyscraper.

Profit in Arresting Deserters.

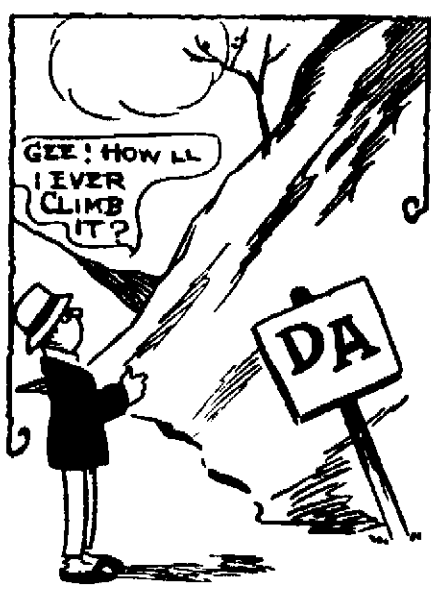

"The members of the police department are continually on the watch for deserters from the army or navy," explained the man about town. "The reason is that the government sets a price of $25 upon the deserter's head. Of course policemen are anxious to gain the reward and are on the watch." "The Bowery is the district most frequented by deserters, and that is the first place in the city where search is made for them. A score of deserters are picked up along this thoroughfare every year."

"Before a member of the police department can accept the reward for catching a deserter his claim must be approved by the commissioner. Even then he does not draw the entire amount, for the usual deduction for the police pension fund is made."—New York Sun

An Arab View of New York.

An Arab who visited New York City is said to have sent this letter home. "People in America travel like ants under the ground [meaning the subway], and like squirrels in the air [meaning the elevated railways], and the buildings are so high that people have to be put in square boxes and pulled to the top by heavy ropes [meaning the elevator]. In the day the sun furnishes the light the same as in Morocco. At night the light is as strong as the day, but people here do not seem to have much use for sleep, as the streets are just as crowded at night as in the day."—Outlook.

Contest Editor's Query Column

The Advocate will be glad to answer all legitimate questions regarding the contest through the Contest Editor's query column. Questions may be sent by mail or telephone but the answers will be printed in this column so that no contestant will have any advantage over another.

F. D. C., Fredericksburg.—Only one book title is meant by each picture. Several titles may "fit the picture," but it is up to you to figure out which is THE one. In order that you may have several trials at it, the rules permit you to give as many as five answers to each picture.

Newark, R. D.—No, it is not too late to enter the contest. The 100 who started last Saturday didn't think so. And many started yesterday and today. The answers are not to be sent in until the contest closes, after every one of the seventy pictures has been printed. Your catalogue and back coupons may be obtained at this office. Catalogue costs you 25c and coupons 2c each. Catalogue by mail 27 cents.

Mrs. McB.—Glad you're so interested. Your Crestline friends cannot compete so long as they are out of the territory of the eight counties named in the rules. It might be, however, that you have some other friends here who would be glad to have aid from the Crestline parties in suggesting answers to the pictures.

R. T.—Admission to the contest is free. You may subscribe for the paper or secure it from a newsboy or at a newsstand. Come or send to this office for pictures already printed. Price of coupons 2c each. Catalogue 25c, two cents more by mail. The 138 prizes are all free. List of judges was printed Monday.

A. R.—One reason why the winners of the recent Cleveland contest got so many of the answers correct was because each contestant had the privilege of submitting 10 answers to each picture. The three first winners had every picture right but one. Dr. W. G. Corne of this city won a $1. prize.

P. D.—Yesterday's picture was drawn by the Advocate artist. We thank you. We have heard it complemented many times.

Subscriber.—You will find the Advocate catalogue useful and valuable in that it contains the names of all the 70 books that will be pictured. You may use any other catalogue but you may be sure if your solution is not in the Advocate book your solution is wrong.

W. H. F.—Your letter of March 1 was misunderstood. We construed it as a criticism for having printed a list of 70 books from which the first 6 pictures were taken. Thank you for your trouble in writing again.

Mrs. A. R. D. Pataskala.—The rules printed under each day's picture answer the question. Extra coupons may be obtained by sending to this office at any time during the contest at 2c each. These coupons are provided so that contestants may submit more than one answer to each picture if they wish. You may submit 5 answers to each picture if you care to do so.

Mrs. E. T., Nelsonville.—Athens county is not included in the contest but several people in your section are solving the pictures, working with friends in one of the 8 counties in the contest. Coupons submitted must be in the name of a resident of Licking, Knox, Delaware, Coshocton, Perry, Muskingum, Fairfield or Franklin county.

William Caughenbaugh, of Toledo was a business visitor in the city on Wednesday.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

"The American Disease."

Overwork and worry are by no means confined to dwellers in large cities. People who live in the country may need to listen to the gospel of moderation in work. Many of them certainly do. Dr. Woods' Hutchison says: "I have watched the limits of physical vigor in farmers, ranchers, lumbermen, miners, section hands and others engaged in prolonged and excessive muscular exertion and have been surprised to find how rarely individuals over forty years of age are able to do a full day's work. Between forty-five and fifty our farmer is pretty certain to be a broken man, though still retaining good color, good appetite and fairly vigorous appearance. I have also compared notes with my brother practitioners and find them almost invariably agreed that there are nearly as many broken down nervous systems, dilated hearts, fibrotic kidneys and the supposed results of our high tension civilization generally to be found in quiet, rural districts as in the cities."

Uncle Walt

Plain Speech.

Old Ebenezer Jimpson Jinks takes pride in saying what he thinks. "I do not mince my words," says he,

"but speak my mind out, bold and free; and if I do not like a gent, I make it plainly evident; I air my views to beat the band, and people know just where I stand." He takes a foolish pride, methinks, does Ebenezer Jimpson Jinks, in being rude and rough of speech, but few regard him as a peach. He keeps his neighbors hot and sore, and they denounce him as a bore. "We'd pay the freight," they often say, "if he would only move away!" And people dodge him on the street; they hate to hear old Jinks repeat "his honest views" on this and that, which views are spoken through his hat. When he steps up to join a crowd, you'd think a cold and clammy shroud had fallen on that bunch of men, who all disperse, to meet again when there's no Jinks to give the blues expounding "his straightforward views." If you would have a griet of friends you'll bear in mind that friendship ends, and cordial feeling slinks behind, when you begin to "speak your mind."

Curious New York Club.

Probably one of the least known clubs in New York has its home on the borders of the lake in Central park, opposite Seventy-seventh street and Central Park West. The clubhouse is a tiny wooden structure, with an equally tiny veranda and a little pier running out twenty feet into the water. Here on spring and summer evenings business men, Wall street brokers, merchant princes, famous lights of the bar, actors and men of science gather, armed with fishing rod and reel, to while away an hour or two in the fascinating sport of fly casting. The men are members of the Anglers' club of New York, and they find relaxation and enjoyment in listening to the whirr of the line as it slips off the reel. The club is one of the most exclusive in the city. It has been in existence for many years, with tournaments regularly every month, yet persons never knew it existed or noticed the rude little hut by the water's edge. —New York Tribune.

Smoke and Soot.

Soot, the principal trouble maker in smoke, is the product of incomplete combustion, and is formed partly by the mechanical removal of ash by the chimney draft and partly by the decomposition of the volatile portion of the fuel which is formed by the process of destructive distillation. The character of soot varies with the distance from the grate at which it has been deposited, as well as the temperature of the furnace, amount of air, and method of firing. The acids contained in soot attack mortar, masonry, woodwork, metal work and building material generally. In many European cities it has been found that soot causes the rapid disintegration of statuary and public monuments. The damage done to inside decorations appears to be no less important than the effects upon the exterior of buildings. Smoke is visible proof of imperfect combustion of fuel, and consequently evidence of waste and inefficiency.—New York American.

Remarkable Watch.
An officer of a liner which sails from New York vouches for the following story:

"On a recent trip I was on deck talking with a passenger when eight bells sounded. 'There goes eight bells,' I said, excusing myself. 'I must take my watch below.'"

"'Gracious,' she exclaimed, 'fancy having a watch that strikes so loud!'" —New York Tribune.

SODA SWEETENS ACID STOMACHS, ENDS DYSPEPSIA

When we eructate sour food, acid fluids and we belch gases it doesn't mean the stomach is lacking in digestive juices, says a noted authority who states that nearly all stomach distress and indigestion is a result of acidity; meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the digestive organs. This irritating acid retards digestion and promotes food fermentation. Then everything eaten sours in the stomach like garbage sours in a can, forming gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon, producing a heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest or we eructate food, constantly belching gas or have heartburn, flatulence, bloating, water-brash and nausea.

He tells us to get a package of 10 grain Sodagen tablets at any pharmacy and take one tablet anytime followed by a tumbler of water. This will instantly neutralize acidity, stop fermentation, absorb the gases and sweeten the entire digestive system. A well-known local druggist says these 10 grain sodagen tablets are an old favorite antidote used by thousands of men and women because of their harmless nature, being composed of Soda, Magnesia and Calcium Carbonate U. WILLIAM WAS RECIPIENT OF MANY KISSES

(Associated Press Telegram) New York, March 5.—Expressions of gratitude in the form of kisses were showered upon William H. Eagan, station master of the Pennsylvania railroad station here last night by the 27 men and women members of an emigrant band, because he has been instrumental in restoring to them a flour sack containing $38,000 in gold and bills.

The party, enroute from Montana to Poland, dined in the station and then started for the pier to board the steamship Olympic. In her haste the wife of the leader of the band, to whom her fellow travelers had entrusted their money, left the bag in a waiting room where it was found by Eagan. Its contents had hardly been counted when the emigrants rushed back in great excitement clamoring for their money.

When they learned that every dollar of the $38,000 was intact they made a rush for Eagan. He did not take kindly to kissing at first, it is said, but yielded as a matter of courtesy.

"Child Material"

If parents do not know by this time how to bring up their children it is not for lack of instruction. A few generations ago Solomon was the only writer on child study who enjoyed any vogue. Now his precepts, the acid fruits of experience, have been superseded by more genial, but more important counsel.

Begirt by well wishers, hemmed in on every side by experts who speak of "child material" as if it were raw silk or wood pulp, how can a little boy born in this enlightened age dodge the educational influences which surround him?

It is hard to be dealt with as "child material" when one is only an ordinary little boy. To be sure, "child material" is never thrashed as little boys were wont to be. It is not required to do what it is told. It enjoys rights and privileges of a very sacred and exalted character; but, on the other hand, it is never left alone, and to be left alone is sometimes worth all the ministrations of men and angels. The helpless, inarticulate reticence of a child is not an obstacle to be overcome, but a barrier which protects the citadel of childhood from assault.—Agnes Repplier in Atlantic.

Actions and Words.
An Italian psychologist maintains that as an orator's gestures are involuntary, they afford a test of his sincerity.

For instance, if the speaker plays with his watch chain he is on his guard and his utterances are not entirely frank.

Should he sway his body from side to side it is a sign of versatility and of an active mind, while a constant repetition of the same gesture is held to indicate that his heart is in the subject and that he is sincere.

There would seem to be some inconsistency in this, since the orator might fiddle with his watch chain every few minutes.

The idea recalls the remark of a wit, who said that a man's trousers were indicative of his position in life. "If they bag at the pockets," was the saying, "he has money. If they bag at the knees he has brains."—New York Telegram.

Diarrhoea's Spurge With Cane.
Speaking of walking sticks reminds us of young Diarrhoea Writing from Gibraltar, and telling his sister to inform their mother what a sensation his waistcoats and studs were making among the officers, he added: "I have also the fame of being the first who ever passed the straits with two canes, a morning and an evening cane. I change my cane on the gun fire and hope to carry them both on to Cairo. It is wonderful the effect those magical wands produce. I owe to them even more attention than to being the supposed author of—what is it? I forget." The fault of many walking sticks is that they are too short. Walk with a stick that seems at first intended for a man taller than yourself and you acquire an upright carriage. A Brighton shop that I pass occasionally is selling any number of sticks through pushing the testimony of a well known doctor as to the health advantages of long walking sticks.—London Chronicle.

Stale Stomach of Young Child.
A former pupil sent her fifteen year old daughter to me with the request that I examine her, pronounce on the cause of her poor appetite and advise as to how to remedy it. As a child, the girl had been very attractive, healthy, full of life, with golden hair, but at fifteen the skin was muddy and, examined under the microscope, found to be full of incontinent blackheads, her hair had become thin and was stringy and poor in color.

That was a year ago. The girl's skin is now clear and glowing with color, her hair soft and glossy, but it took a year of constant attention to remedy a condition that simply came from neglect. There is no time in the woman's life when beauty culture is so important as between fourteen and sixteen. Mothers are not always aware of this fact, and girls too busy or too ignorant to care for themselves.

Stale Stomach of Young Child.
At fourteen there are glandular changes in the body and in the condition of the skin. The skin is peculiarly liable to skin diseases. If the outer skin becomes torpid so that toxins must be sent to the blood, the pores become clogged and what we term blackheads is the result.

Contractions in the sebaceous glands are increased. The result is a skin of a state of torpidity. This condition blackheads, but hair has become thin and is stringy and poor in color.

The skin must be kept in good condition. It should be washed with soap and water daily and between washings should use plenty of fruit and green vegetables. Sugar and starch should be avoided. The skin should be kept absolutely and reduce the amount of potato, rice and bread, replacing them with green vegetables and salads. Oatmeal, spinach and cauliflower are all good for the complexion and the price of half a lemon, taken before breakfast in a glass of hot water, two or three times a week, is a stomach tonic that reflects very quickly on the skin.

The growing girl should never take stimulants. Very weak tea may occasionally be indulged in, but I do not approve of the growing habit of tea drinking among school girls and young women. Coffee will make any skin muddy in time and even its occasional use is dangerous. Hot milk and hot chocolate agree with most girls and they have a decidedly beautifying effect on the complexion.

How to Make Frummenty.
One of the old time delicacies in England was frummenty, frummenty or frummenty.

According to the most ancient formula extant it was concocted in the following manner: "Take clean wheat and bray it in a mortar, that the hulls be all gone off, and seethe it till it burst, and take it up and let it cool; and take clean fresh broth and sweet milk of almonds or sweet milk of kine and temper it all; and take the yolks of eggs. Boil it a little and set it down and mess it forth with fat veision or fresh mutton."

Venison was seldom served without this accompaniment, but frummenty, sweetened with sugar, was a favorite dish of itself, the "clean broth" being omitted when a lord was to be the partaker.

"Mutton pies" was the name given to the mince pie as early as 1596. They were also known as shred and Christmas pies.—London Answers.

LITTLE DISCUSSIONS OF LOVE AND MARRIAGE

BY BARBARA BOYD

Seeing Life.

"I ran across Jack Hinton today," said the Newly-Made Benedict. "He didn't look quite up to the mark. I am afraid he is getting into bad habits."

"That's a shame," responded the New Bride. "He used to be such a nice fellow."

"Yes, I hate to see a fellow going to the dogs. I told him he ought to get married and settle down. But he said was going to see life first."

"He isn't seeing life," protested the New Bride. "He is seeing death. He is seeing and knowing the things that are destructive, that pull one down. I wonder why people call that seeing life."

"They certainly do confuse the issue," replied the Newly-Made Benedict, "when people talk that way, it always makes me think of something Kipling wrote."

He picked up a little volume from the table and read: "When an opulent papa sends his son and heir 'round the world to enlarge his mind, does he reflect, I wonder, on the places into which the innocent strolls under the guidance of equally inexperienced friends? He turned a leaf or two, and read on: 'It was not till a fat person in a black dressing gown began to squal demands for horrible stuff called a bottle of wine that I began to understand the glory of the situation. I was seeing life. 'Life' is a great thing. It consists in swigging sweet champagne that was stolen from a steward of the P. and O., and exchanging bad words with pale-faced baggage who laugh demurely without effort and without emotion."

"So they cursed and they drank and they told tales, sitting in a circle till I felt that this was really life, and a thing to be wished if I could like it."

There was an interlude and some more shrieks and howls, which the generous public took as indicating immense mirth and enjoyment of life. "They spoke about themselves as 'gay.' This does not look much on paper. To appreciate the full grimace of the sarcasm hear it from their lips amid their own surroundings. I winked with vigor to show that I appreciated life and was a real chippy, and that upon me, too, there were no flies."

There is an intoxication in company that carries a man to excess of mirth; but when a party of four deliberately sit down to drink and swear, the bottom tumbles out of the amusement somehow, and loathing and boredom follow.

If this be life, give me a little honest death, without drinks and without foul jesting. Any way you look at it, it's a poor performance, badly played; and too near to a tragedy to be pleasant. But it seems to amuse the young man wandering about the world, and I cannot believe it is altogether good for him."

"That's the truth," agreed the New Bride, gravely. "I wish that view of what is called seeing life would become more general. So many people, especially young folks, seem to think it is smart and clever and quick the thing, to do the 'seeing life' stunt. If they would only think a little deeper and get at the real meaning of such an experience, how much better they would understand what life truly is, and what joy is in it. This method of 'seeing life' makes me think of looking into a charnel house full of gruesome and awful horrors—loathsome diseases, and dead men's bones, and creeping and crawling things; when all about is a beautiful landscape for them to feast their eyes upon, with flowers and blue skies and brooks and birds and children's laughter. Why fill people choose death when they can have life?"

Teachers made 105 visits to the homes of children and 623 such visits have been made during the year. It is noticed that many teachers have not made any visits of this character at all.

Three hundred and forty-one persons visited the schools during the month, 139 of these were parents. The superintendent made 75 visits in to the various school rooms inspecting the work of teachers and pupils.

The teachers and pupils of Keller school gave a bazaar on the evening of February 27th, making $15.25 which will be used in purchasing equipment for the principal's office.

The spring vacation will begin with the close of school on March 2, and continue until April 6. Many teachers are planning to use this week in visiting other schools, which is commendable.

"The Shepherd of the Hills."

If you want to meet Sammy Lane and know all about her sweet love, her thrilling life among those good and bad folk of the Ozarks—if you want to know about the man who would not fight for her, and also about the man who risked his life for her dear soul—if you want to know about Sammy's father, Jim Lane, the old Bald Knobber, Uncle Ike the Postmaster at the Forks with his "Ba Thundas," "Preachin' Bill," "a-sayin'" things as good as David Harum, "Wash Gibbs" and the old "Shepherd"—and all the rest of the people who lived among the Hills, you can find it all in "The Shepherd of the Hills" the dramatization of Harold Bell Wright's novel, matinee and night, March 11.

The dramatization was made by Mr. Wright with the assistance of Elsbury W. Reynolds. It is said to be even more interesting than the story in book form. Bargain matinee Saturday.

"Streets of New York."

"The Streets of New York" a feature photo-play will be seen at the Auditorium Theater, Sunday matinee and night. This picture produced after the play of the same name, was produced for the first time at the Wallicks Theater, New York City in 1884.

"Way Down East."

Typical of New England rugged honesty, simple traits and charity, "Way Down East" comes to the Auditorium next Monday matinee and night. For 19 years this famous play that arouses memories of childhood, of clean, wholesome living, has been before the public. A play that touches the heart and emphasizes the little virtues that make all humanity better is bound to live and be always interesting.

A special new production is announced this season, and an exceptional cast headed by Mr. William Lawrence who for the past ten years has been identified with the part made famous by the late Denham Thompson in "The Old Homestead."

"Little Lost Sister."

Beaming with heartless throbs, wholesome pathos and lingering humor, "Little Lost Sister," a stirring play dramatized from the book which Virginia A. Brooks made almost as famous as herself, should be seen by every man, woman and child in the country.

"Little Lost Sister" will play at the Auditorium next Wednesday matinee and night, March 11.

Virginia Brooks has sought to tell in a beautiful story the workings of a great system which ruins the young generation. In discussing the play the other day she said: "I have sought to teach a moral lesson, I believe there is no better way to reach the populace than through the medium of the drama. I hope that 'Little Lost Sister' opens the eyes of those who have either heedlessly or wantonly ignored the vice situation."

Mrs. Elizabeth Gallant, 81, for 65 years a resident of Union county, is dead.

John Brannon Richard C. Travis
Gordon Thorne John H. Coates
Gunther, detective William Bailey
Carolyn, Brannon's daughter Age 1, Baby Madonna
Age 7, Eleanor Kahn
Age 15, Ruth Stonehouse

T was Gordon Thorne who killed Scanlan, but when John Brannon awoke from his drunken debauch the evidence pointed so strongly to his being the murderer that Thorne had no difficulty in convincing him that the best thing he could do was to fly to the Canadian woods.

Thorne had calculated that the police would be deceived just as Brannon had been, but he had reckoned without the unexpected. Scanlan had not been instantly killed. After Thorne and Brannon had fled from his apartments he relived long enough to write this note:

"Gordon Thorne did it. Brannon is innocent."

Gunther, the detective, found this note. When he went to Thorne's room, however, the man had taken alarm and disappeared. And there, despite his utmost efforts, the trail ended.

It was more than a week afterward that Brannon, so great had been his agitation and so numbing the effect of the liquor on his brain, came to his senses again. Then he found himself in a shack in the Canadian woods, many hundreds of miles from civilization. He was equipped with the arms, ammunition, and supplies of a trapper. His little daughter was with him.

It was more than a month before Brannon could begin to think rationally of the past. Then the idea vaguely formed that he was not a murderer began to lodge in his brain. Something within him told him that his hands were not dyed with Scanlan's blood. He had no proof and no suspicions of Thorne's treachery, but better in his own innocence would not leave him.

Like many other bewildered souls isolated from their kind he found his greatest comfort in his Bible. Once opening the book he read words that seemed to fit his case. They bade him go forth from his hiding place secure in his own innocence. Brooding over this message he fell asleep in the shack one day and in his dreams saw the vision of an angel, who ordered:

"Go thou forth and mingle among thy fellow men. Justify thyself in thine own sight."

He awoke and turned again to the book.

"In thee, O Lord, I put my trust," he read. "My flesh and my heart fail, but God is the strength of my heart and the Lord is my strength."

These words decided him. Taking his daughter with him, he returned to the world and entered into business.

Years passed and the daughter grew to womanhood. A suitor presented himself and she became engaged to marry. Their plans for the wedding were made when her sweetheart came to her with a newspaper. The Alaska Gold Dredging company, the newspaper said, offered huge profits. She agreed with him that he ought to invest his savings in the securities of this company.

They visited the offices of the gold dredging concern and bought some of its stock. Then, in triumph, they returned to Brannon and showed him their purchases.

Brannon saw at a glance that the concern was a swindle. With word to his daughter and her fiancé to wait until he returned he rushed off to the dredging company's office. He demanded to see the manager and a moment later was standing face to face with Gordon Thorne.

Brannon demanded that Thorne return the money that had been paid for the securities. Thorne recognized his visitor and hesitated whether or not to comply. In his agitation he sprang up and paced about the room. He

Mrs. Ruth Stonehouse—Essays

ALTHOUGH Miss Stonehouse is barely old enough to vote she is already one of the most popular photoplay actresses in America. Miss Stonehouse is called "The Colorado Girl" by her fellow players. She comes from that state. Her father is a mining expert at Victor. Before going on the photoplay stage she was a professional dancer—and a good one. She was only recently married. Her home is in Chicago.

paused at the window. Below in the street he saw a boy passing carrying a sign:

"Brannon for Mayor."

That gave him an inspiration. He returned to Brannon fully composed.

"You force me to pay back this money," he said, "and on the day before election I'll tell the people of this town the kind of man who is trying to buy their mayor. You haven't forgotten you killed Scanlan, I hope."

The ultimatum struck Brannon dumb. He rose and walked out of Thorne's office.

Meanwhile Detective Gunther had never given over his efforts to locate Thorne. One day an advertisement of the Alaskan Gold Dredging company fell into his hands. The assumed name signed at the bottom struck something in the detective's memory. He went back over his files. There he found an advertisement identical with the one in his hand except for a change in the signature. The detective laughed.

"Once a crook, always a crook," he said. "Thorne's up to his old tricks again. This time I'll get him."

Gunther took the next train out of town headed for the city in which Thorne had established himself. He arrived there on the day that Brannon was to make the great speech of his campaign. Brannon was in the midst of his effort when the detective broke through the crowd. Thorne had just risen to his feet. Publicly he denounced Brannon as Scanlan's murderer.

Gunther sprang forward and seized Thorne by the shoulder.

"You come up on the platform," he ordered. "I've got a word to say to this crowd."

He pushed Thorne ahead of him through the multitude. They reached the platform.

"This man," shouted Gunther, indicating Brannon, "is innocent. The real murderer stands before you." He seized Thorne by the shoulder. "I now place him under arrest."

"The Drama in Heyville."

The Demosthenes Dramatic club had made a terrific sensation in Heyville with its production of "Othello." When the curtain fell on the last act Iod Mullins, the producer, and members of the amateur cast were overwhelmed with felicitations. Success acted on Iod like an intoxicant. He announced he intended to produce another play immediately. The play Iod had in mind was "The Union Spy," then appearing in Chicago.

The sequel to this decision was that a few evenings later Iod found himself in Chicago, watching the "Union Spy" from a box.

Iod returned to Heyville inspired by what he had seen. First he had to write the play, but since he was a genius, this gave him little trouble. Then the company was selected.

After his company had been chosen the rehearsals were started. Things did not go smoothly, but they were going smoothly enough until the leading lady had an attack of temper. When she walked out her "fellow," of course, walked out with her. Iod's well known diplomatic talent here was clearly to the utmost. He finally persuaded the leading lady to return.

The great night for the performance arrived. Iod's version of the play was similar in plot, but vastly different in its general effect. Besides Heyville's stage facilities were not adequate, and the actors had trifling personal idiosyncrasies that brought on some queer situations. In fact, after having seen the play at Iod saw it, the average person would be of the opinion that the Demosthenes Dramatic club was not putting on "The Union Spy" at all, but a burlesque of "The Union Spy."

However, Heyville was pretty well pleased with the play until one of the rebel soldiers in a moment of stage fright discharged his gun directly at the audience. That caused a large number of timorous persons to leave.

When the great duel scene occurred there was only one courageous small boy down in front. This part of the show was well worth staying for, however. The spy and the rebel soldier were in a hand fight. The whole company was compelled to take a hand and part them. In the last act the rebel captain was supposed to surrender. He refused absolutely to do so. Instead, he called in his men from the wings and the play ended in a struggle that all but wrecked the building.

"The Stepmother."

This is a touching story of the victor, finally successful, of a wife to win the affection of a husband whose whole heart is centered in his children.

Two girls love the same man. Jane, the quiet, is preferred to Margaret, the demonstrative and great hearted. Jane and the man are married. They have two children when Jane sickens and dies. In her last breath she begs her husband to marry Margaret and "make her the mother of our children." Margaret and the man obey the dying request. Soon, however, Margaret discovers to her great grief that the husband's love for his children is so overwhelming that she is left quite out of his heart.

This becomes so apparent that at last she can bear it no longer and prepares to leave him. As she starts from the house she discovers that one of the children has been seized with scarlet fever. The cowardly servants desert their employers because they are afraid of infection. The wife abandons her plan for leaving her husband, returns and nurses the sick child back to health. The husband is denied admission to the sick room by the doctor. At last when the child is well the husband is allowed to enter.

DON'T BE MISLED

Newark Citizens Should Read and Heed This Advice.

Kidney trouble is dangerous and often fatal. Don't experiment with something new and untried. Use a tested kidney remedy. Begin with Doan's Kidney Pills. Used in kidney troubles 50 years. Recommended here and everywhere.

A Newark citizen's statement forms convincing proof. It's local testimony—it can be investigated.

Mrs. J. P. Braden, Court House, Newark, Ohio, says: "My head ached most of the time, and the sensations from my kidneys bothered me. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and used some, procured from A. F. Crayton & Co.'s Drug Store. They made me strong and well. Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Braden had. Foster-Wilburn Co. $20.00 GABARDINE AT GREAT WESTERN SPLENDID PRIZE

If you were told that fine $20.00 Gabardine awaited you at the Great Western wouldn't you be pleased? This is what will happen to some man when the Advocate's big Book-lovers' Contest comes to a close.

A fine $20.00 Gabardine has been purchased by the Advocate from the Great Western clothing store at 19 South Park Place. The man lucky enough to win this is indeed fortunate for he not only can have his choice of the regular or the Balmacaan style of Gabardine, or if he desires, he can have any $20.00 spring overcoat in the house. These Gabardines or dress raincoats, are of the best class material and newest style, and the Great Western has an elegant line.

The Great Western was opened in its present location in 1882, by Mr. L. Hirschberg, who still continues at the helm in the same alert and capable manner that he has conducted this business during all these years. Associated with Mr. Hirschberg in the management of the store is his son, Sol Hirschberg. Henry Pfeiffer has been with the store ever since it was first established, and E. L. Stewart has been there for many years. Guy Cooper and O. B. Holmes are also efficient members of the force. An expert tailor, A. Lottche, is in charge to see that every garment that leaves the store is correct in every way. An immense line is carried which occupies two complete floors. The Great Western specializes in Kuppenheimer, Class A and other high grade clothing. The new spring styles are coming in every day and already the line of spring hats and furnishings is very complete.

The clearance sale of all winter wear in the store is still in force and will continue for the cold weather wearables are so much in demand these days.

See the splendid line of Gabardines and spring overcoats. You may have the pleasure of picking out one of these for yourself at the close of this big Book-lovers' Contest. If you're not in already—get busy today.

How to Make the Best Cough Remedy at Home

A Family Supply at Small Cost, and Fully Guaranteed.

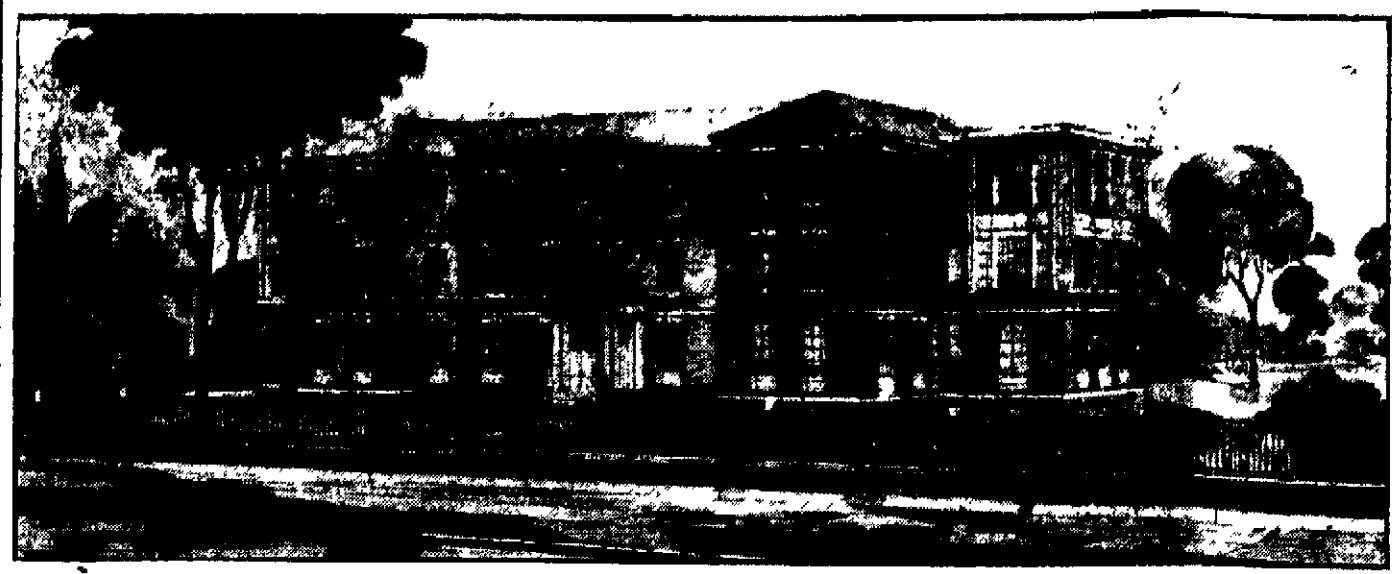

Make a plain syrup by mixing one pint of granulated sugar and 1/2 pint of warm water and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It takes hold almost instantly, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. It tones up the jaded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, bronchial asthma, whooping cough and spasmodic croup.

This method of making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is now used in more homes than any other cough syrup. This explains why it is often imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in quinine and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

WORK ON NEW CITY HOSPITAL RETARDED BUT COMPLETION IS EXPECTED BY JULY 1

It is confidently expected that the new City Hospital, being erected at the corner of Buena Vista and Indiana streets, will be ready for occupancy by the first of July next. Of course some contingency may arise to delay the work, but it is hoped to complete the remaining work by the time specified.

This institution is designed to be one of the most thoroughly equipped and modern in the entire state, and will be a source of pride to the citizens, and especially those who by their contributions have helped to make it possible.

Before going farther it may be well to observe that the subscriptions in full, are past due and those knowing themselves in arrears should stop at the Franklin bank and pay the amount to either H. D. Woodbridge, secretary, or W. L. Prout, treasurer. This will save the time and expense of sending a collector for these subscriptions.

The exterior of the main building is completed, and the plastering done except the finishing coat. The concrete floor foundations are in and ready for the tile to be laid, so that this work will be pushed rapidly just as soon as the temperature will permit.

The extreme cold lately has retarded progress as there has been no means of heating the interior so that workmen could be employed there.

The old Everett homestead is to be converted into a nurses' home, and Palmer Brothers, local contractors, have started on the work of tearing out the partitions and making other necessary changes. The Reinhold

Plumbing and Heating company also of Newark will do the plumbing and fitting in this building, and connect it up with that in the main hospital. This building will be made a part of the main structure, and as indicated will be fitted up as a home for the nurses connected with the hospital.

In the basement the large boiler will be located that will furnish heat for the entire institution, and a stack sixty feet high will be built on the outside.

The general contractor, Charles P. Kircher of Athens, who is in charge of the work, will allow nothing that is not providential, to interfere with the progress and completion of the work, and this new addition to Newark's needs will be a long step in the direction of the city's general progress.

REV. C. H. STULL NEW PASTOR OF BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. C. H. Stull Ph. D., is the new pastor of the Fifth Street Baptist church. Dr. Stull is now closing his pastoral work at Troy, O. The Fifth Street church called him a few weeks ago, and having accepted the call, Dr. Stull will come to Newark and take up the pastorate about April first. He spoke here as the guest of Dr. H. O. Rowlands, January 22nd.

Dr. Stull is a young man, but has the reputation of being one of the strong pulpit men in his denomination. His sermons and lectures have been well received and very highly spoken of both in Ohio and in the West. He is an Eastern man educated at College and Seminary in Pennsylvania, and received the Doctor's degree from Southern Illinois. He has held pastorates in Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota before locating at Troy. He did a great work and proved himself a wise and efficient worker at Waukon and Iowa Falls, Iowa; and at St. Paul, Minn. His ministry at Troy has attracted wide attention. His congregations have shown a most gratifying growth, while nearly a hundred new members have been secured this year, and added to that church. Dr. Stull's family consists of wife and two sons, one son being in school. The family will not follow him here till after the present school year.

Each of Us Owns the Lakes and Hills. Long ago I laid claim to the deserts and mountains of the west to northern woods and southern swamps, and the best part of my life has been spent in making good these claims. They were grants—right royal grants—to all who could prove themselves heirs before a higher court. As a matter of fact, few have qualified, and while there has been a lot of squabbling in the lower courts over titles, the land has remained in the possession of a few knowing persons—a handful in each generation.

Of these lakes and hills in western New York one is the proprietor to just that extent that he is able to respond to their beauty and make them companionable. To this end he must see them not only as a naturalist but as an artist: must look at them with the eye of a poet and of a philosopher as well. Above all, one must live with the hills, day by day and year by year, in the sun and in the rain. He must be himself a hillman and a woodsman—and something of a wildman. From "North and South," by Stanton David Kirkman.

ELLIS' FATE NOW RESTS WITH JURY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Chicago, March 5.—William Cheney Ellis, the wealthy Cincinnati manufacturer, who is on trial charged with having murdered his wife in a Chicago hotel last October, will probably know his fate before night.

Desire to hear the final arraignment of Ellis caused the corridors leading to the courtroom today to be packed with a throng which included a large percentage of fashionably dressed women.

Six forms of verdict were prepared to be given to the jury when it retired.

Melato's final address was brief. He closed with a final demand that the death penalty be inflicted on Ellis, who, he argued, was fully responsible when he killed Mrs. Ellis.

Judge Pettit then instructed the jury. The jury retired shortly after noon.

The instructions gave these possible forms of verdict:
Guilty with the death penalty.
Guilty of murder with imprisonment for life.
Guilty of murder with imprisonment for not less than 14 years.
That the act was committed while Ellis was insane and that he still is insane.
That the act was committed while Ellis was insane, but that he now is sane.
Not guilty.

was learned that the appointment of the Benton commission was but the first step in a series of acts which would be calculated to do away with what was considered a misunderstanding. The hope was expressed that the work of the commission, which has been ordered to conclude its work promptly, would convince the world of the good intentions of General Carranza toward the welfare of all individual foreigners in Mexico.

It was explained that the appointment of a Mexican commission instead of the operations of one composed of foreigners at this time in Mexico, would eliminate danger of a condition which would be undesirable to all sides. The gravity of the situation was not denied here, although the hope was expressed that developments soon would allay any danger of a breach of international good feeling.

General Carranza, with his staff of officers and a heavy guard of troops, left today on a train for Naco, Sonora.

From that point the constitutionalist commander-in-chief will ride into Chihuahua, probably touching at Agua Prieta, opposite Douglas, Ariz., and arrive at Casas Grandes on the railroad southwest of Juarez.

INVESTIGATION OF EXECUTIONS STARTS TODAY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
El Paso, Texas, March 5.—Investigation into the execution by General Villa of William S. Benton, the British subject, and into the disappearance of Gustav Bauch, the German American was begun at Juarez today by the Mexican commission appointed by General Carranza, chief of the constitutionalists.

The commission will endeavor to ascertain whether the arrest and conviction of Benton was made according to due form of law and justice. It is not expected that an examination will be made of the Benton body.

An attempt will be made by the Mexican commission to learn whether Bauch was executed or whether he is still alive. If alive, an attempt will be made to learn his whereabouts. The Anglo-American commission was still awaiting instructions from Washington.

Headquarters of the constitutionalist government was today established across the river at Juarez. Seventy men, heads of departments, clerks, and secretaries, brought with them a carload of official papers of the rebel government. General Carranza and members of his cabinet were expected to leave Nogales for Juarez some time today.

LONDON COMMENTS ON SITUATION

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, March 5.—The policy of the United States toward Mexico occupied a leading place in the editorial columns of the English newspapers again today.

The Evening Standard discovers "a marked change in the whole trend of American foreign policy. Instead of 'haughty isolation' based on the strict letter of the Monroe doctrine, the United States is now becoming anxious to stand well with the European powers. The government at Washington is apprehensive lest it become involved in intervention in Mexico, Japan might seize the occasion to carry her ambitious designs on the Philippines and Hawaii into effect and believes that Europe, if so disposed, could lay an embargo on Japanese ambitions."

DENIAL OF DIAZ

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, March 5.—General Felix Diaz, who is stopping with his friends here, claimed today that he was not acquainted with Pedro Del Villar and Cecilio Ocon, who, through the senate foreign relations committee sought yesterday the moral support by the United States of a movement to bring about peace in Mexico by another revolution, they said, by Diaz.

"I know nothing of any such movement," General Diaz said when told of the representations of Villar and Ocon.

General Diaz said he had adopted a policy of strict neutrality. If such a movement did crop out, it would have to gain considerable strength before he would even think of leading it.

M'GREW GETS A COMMUTATION OF LIFE SENTENCE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, March 5.—The state pardon board today recommended commutation of the life sentence of Edward McGrew, of Cuyahoga county, to seven years. McGrew was sent up in September, 1909. The condition of the commutation which would result in McGrew's freedom soon, is that he abstain from drink and support his child.

McGrew was sentenced for killing his common-law wife Lena Petris. Facts advanced showed that McGrew sustained a fracture of the skull prior to the murder. Since entering prison an operation was performed on his skull.

The board refused to commute the sentences of ten other life-termers.

Only ten pardons or commutations were recommended, while 36 applications for persons were rejected.

Others who were recommended for pardons or commutations or sentence were as follows:
Thomas Howard, Lawrence, burglary and larceny, 5-4-3 years, commutation to one term of five years recommended.
William Woessie, Lucas, horse stealing, 15 years, commutation to release at once recommended.
William Vanderpool, Hamilton, pocket picking, five years commutation recommended to three years on condition that he refrain from evil associations and unlawful conduct.
Dallas Pancost, Cuyahoga, abandoning minor children, two years, commutation to one and one third year recommended on condition that he support his children.
The pardons board also recommended that the life sentence of Charles Janoski, Cuyahoga county, began in 1903 be commuted to 20 years. He killed the husband of Mrs. Wiurkowski with whom he was infatuated.

Pardon on grounds of innocence was recommended for Emma Jefferson, serving a 10-year sentence from Hamilton county for manslaughter. Della McKinley, another woman prisoner serving a life sentence for murder, from Ross county was refused a pardon.

Frank Hironomous, serving 10 years from Lucas county for manslaughter, also was refused a pardon.

William Tell will still remain in the prison. He is serving 30 years from Pickaway county for burglary, and the board rejected his application for pardon.

Other life prisoners who did not receive recommendations for pardons are:
Leon C. Smith, Franklin; Michael Soboleski, Lucas; Joe Andy, Stark; and Francisco Brignault, Erie.
Clarence C. Atwood, Jefferson, abandoning children, indeterminate pardon recommended on condition that he return to and properly provide for his family, and abstain from the use of intoxicants.
Constantin Kologieski, Lorain, burglary, 12 years, commutation to six years recommended.
Other life prisoners whose applications for pardons were rejected: Robert Willis, Hamilton.
Michaela Sotocanti, Hamilton.
Ben F. Lantz, Lucas.
Louis Seane, Lucas.
William Green, Franklin.

ment for the support of the press bureau and in return was given a receipt. This was introduced as evidence. It was on a printed receipt blank of the Democratic state executive committee and was signed by E. J. Heer, treasurer.

Mr. Borton testified he had contributed $10 for the press bureau since Jan. 1, 1914, but said it was not solicited. He said he is a Republican, but that his ticket at the last election "probably looked like Joseph's coat."

John P. Brennan, state treasurer, denied he had either solicited or received any contributions from any of his employees for the support of the press bureau. He admitted, however, he had told his employees of the need of funds to take up the note given. He told his employees they need not feel forced to contribute, he testified. A few days later he gave his personal check for $50 to Mr. Lattanner, payable to F. J. Heer. He charged the check later to make it payable to M. A. Goler. Mr. Lattanner's chief clerk, for Mr. Lattanner. Mr. Goler secured other contributions from employees in the treasurer's office, Mr. Brennan declared. He received a receipt for $96, collected from his department later from Mr. Heer, treasurer of the Democratic state executive committee. Another treasury employee, Clyde Demar, also contributed $9 after the $96 was collected. This check was given to the treasurer, who forwarded it to Mr. Lattanner.

Miss Goddard said she made a donation for the press bureau, but without solicitation.

"That's a good cause, and I want in on the question," she told Superintendent Lattanner.

Mr. Crooks, an employee of the tax commission said he gave a sum for the press bureau to A. V. Abernathy, secretary of the commission. Mr. Goldrick, assistant to Mr. Crooks, suggested making the donation.

For the time being, Thursday noon, the Franklin county grand jury ceased its investigation into the alleged violations of civil service and corrupt practices laws. While the major part of the time of the grand jury was taken yesterday in examining employees of the state treasurers and the state adjutant general's office, the grand jury this morning began the examination of employees of the secretary of state's office. This investigation was adjourned today at noon. Tomorrow or Saturday the grand jury will again take up the assessment investigation and it is not expected that a report will be made before the middle of next week.
